GeoC Maps

The GeoC platform provides high-quality mapping and geo tools, enabling your security managers, Ops room personnel, or users on the ground to exchange location-based information in real-time and fully automatic.

Mission critical maps are a vital layer of security in critical countries, where normal mapping services only offer limited coverage of cities and surroundings. Our mission-critical maps are updated frequently and can even be updated upon request for specific areas of interest.

Our imagery on demand service allows companies or organisations to request new satellite imagery for an area of interest and after a few days the imagery is available within the platform, for all users or only specific projects.
